To All Entrants:

All pieces selected as part of the "Do It Your Damn Self!!" National Youth Video and Film Festival will be screened at the various festival screenings and aired on CCTV (Cambridge Community Television) and other participating Public Access Stations and broadcast networks. The Community Art Center, Inc. may use the submitted works for publicity and presentation purposes. The individual or organization/filmmaker is responsible for any copywrited material included within the submitted works. The Community Art Center will compile all the festival selections into one reel. This reel will not be sold. However, upon request, educational institutions will be able to borrow this reel to present to their students/staff providing they return the reel to the Community Art Center at their expense. NOTE: By making this compilation, we want to accomplish two things. First, we want to spotlight the work of the numerous youth media programs around the country. In turn, this will offer examples of teen-produced video and film and information on how to contact these various programs. With the compilation, we will include information about each program/filmmaker. We hope that this will help promote the growing network of youth media centers and classrooms. Second, we want to give the festival entrants as large an audience as possible. For those who are not currently distributing their work, this is an opportunity to be exposed to larger audiences. For those who already have a system of distribution in place, this might generate more interest.

I, _____, own the rights to the work listed and I agree to use the submitted work as described above.
